CLERGY COLUMN

Happy Lord's Day!

Big news, everyone: I think this will be our final Catholic Massterclass! I never thought it would last this long, and yet I think it could go even longer. Holy Mass is so rich! We're going out with a mystery, which is fitting for our mysterious worship. Today we're talking about Eucharistic miracles. A Eucharistic miracle is an extraordinary event in which God makes visible what is normally hidden. At every Mass, a true miracle takes place: bread and wine become the Body and Blood of Christ, though this change is invisible. In Eucharistic miracles, that same reality becomes visible in a way that we can perceive. In that sense, they are something like a "double miracle." I have three miracles that I'd like to briefly share with you.

First is the Eucharistic Miracle of Lanciano, the earliest recorded Eucharistic miracle. It took place in Italy around the year 700. A priest who was experiencing doubts about the Real Presence saw the appearance of the bread and wine change at the words of consecration. The Host became visible flesh, and the wine became visible blood. These miraculous species have been preserved for over 1,300 years. Scientific studies in the 1970s found that the flesh is human heart tissue and the blood is real human blood, type AB.

Next is the Eucharistic Miracle of Bolsena. Once again, a priest wrestling with doubt witnessed the Host begin to bleed during Mass. The blood stained the corporal, which is still preserved today in Orvieto, Italy.

Finally, we turn to the Eucharistic Miracle of Buenos Aires. A discarded Host was found and placed in water so that it would dissolve. Instead, it became a bloody substance. Scientific analysis later revealed that it was human heart tissue with AB blood type. Even more striking, white blood cells were present, indicating that the tissue was living at the time of examination. The scientist who analyzed the sample was not told its origin.

There are many more examples of Eucharistic miracles from history, some of them seem unbelievable - I suppose they all seem unbelievable, which is part of what makes it a miracle - but they all point to the reality of the Real Presence of Christ in the Eucharist, which comes to us at Holy Mass. You could read more about them by going to this website, designed by St. Carlo Acutis when he was just a teenager:

May the Lord grant us all a greater love for the Mass and for the Holy Eucharist!

The Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ (Corpus Christi)

"Because there is one bread, we, who are many, are one body, for we all partake of the one bread." 1 CORINTHIANS 10:17

As disciples of Jesus, we are called to lead holy lives and invite others to join us. We are called to be fed and to feed others. Living a stewardship lifestyle, being grateful and generous with our gifts, serves a twofold purpose. One, it helps build God's kingdom here on earth. Two, it helps us strengthen each other's relationship with God the Father, Jesus, and the Holy Spirit. It becomes our roadmap to Heaven. Let's help each other get there!

1. She was a Carmelite nun 2. She had a terrible temper as a child 3. She was one of the first to read St. Therese of Lisieux's "Story of the Soul" 4. She died of Addison's disease 5. Her mother strongly discouraged her from becoming a nun. 6. She had a profound understanding of the Trinity to which she cultivated an ardent devotion.

Diocesan Planning for Mission Update

Over the past several months, our parishes have been engaged in an important process of prayer, discernment, and consultation regarding how new parish clusters may operate as part of the Diocese of Crookston's Planning for Mission efforts. In mid-May, Parish Discernment Teams submitted proposed scenarios to the Diocesan Planning Commission. Shortly thereafter, parish discernment committees/representatives had the opportunity to meet with Bishop Cozzens to share their feedback, hopes, and recommendations. The Diocesan Planning Commission has since met and prayerfully made recommendations to Bishop Cozzens. On Saturday, June 13, Bishop Cozzens will share decisions and additional information through a video message that will be published on the Diocese of Crookston website at 12:00 p.m. (noon). The video may be viewed at the diocesan statements page at www.crookston.org/statements. A letter from Bishop Cozzens will then be read and distributed at all Masses next weekend, June 13–14. Thank you for your continued prayer, engagement, and openness throughout this process. As we move forward, let us remain attentive to the guidance of the Holy Spirit and trust that the Lord continues to lead us.

Lord Jesus,

On this blessed Feast of Corpus Christi,
we thank You for the gift of
Your Body and Blood.

Nourish our souls,
strengthen our faith,
and unite us in Your love.

Amen.

How to love your Life. Try this for two weeks, what have you got to lose? What will you gain?

1. Morning Gratitude, name three things you're grateful for. Be very specific.
2. At doorways, meals or shift changes, pause and acknowledge where you are at.
3. Nightly examen, ask where did I fall short today? Most drained. Write down three sentences & learn for tomorrow
4. Do one mundane task with full attention daily. Washing dishes, walking, eating.
5. Weekly Silence. Spend one hour per week in complete silence. No input, no output. Just silence.

Anyone wishing to have a MASS offered for a loved one, living or deceased, you may leave name and the customary donation of $10.00 in the offering basket in an envelope.

What is "offering it up"?

"Offering it up" is a form of redemptive suffering, which itself is a form of necessary prayer. Intercession means praying to God for the good of others, which Jesus Himself modelled on many occasions during His time on earth. We are made for community, and offering our suffering as intercession is a unique opportunity to help others in very powerful ways.
